Restaurant Review App

Abstract

Our application is designed to enable users to share their experiences about visiting a particular restaurant by searching for an existing restaurant, adding a non-existing restaurant, and writing a review for a restaurant to be stored in a database. Applications in the existing legacy system often restrict users to being able to review restaurants that are in the app database only and do not provide functionality to add new restaurants to database. In our current application we tried to address this flaw by enabling users to add new restaurants to database thereby expanding the functionality of review application and making it easier for people who discover new places to share their experiences with other prospective customers.
